ST. LOUIS FLYER KILLED IN CRASH AT DETROIT

Sam Bensky and Two Other Airman Fatally Hurt Testing Plane.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

DETROIT, Feb. 9.—Three employes of the Stinson Aircraft Corporation, one a St. Louisan, were killed yesterday when their plane crashed in a field near the Wayne County airport after going into a tailspin at an altitude of 700 feet.

They were Sam Bensky, assistant chief engineer, former, of St. Louis; Arthur Saxon, chief engi-neer; Owen Pinaire, chief test pilot. Pinaire was making an experiment-al test of the tri-motor plane, while Saxon and Bensky were making stability tests.

Bensky, 25 years old, was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bensky, 6309 North drive, University City. He had resided in Wayne, Mich., with his wife since he entered the employment of the aircraft company three years ago. Their son, Loren, ployment of the aircraft company three years ago. Their son, Loren, is 11 months old. His widow is the Standing Beside Tank at Time, Are Scalded.

CHICAGO, Feb. 9.—Ernest V. Maltby, a veteran Board of Trade operator, was sentenced to prison for one to ten years yesterday for embezzlement of Rural Grain Co. funds while he was vice-president

Peter B. Carey, president of the Board of Trade, as a character
witness, testified to the integrity of the 60-year-old trader and said Maltby hired him as office bey 20 years ago.

Maltby admitted speculating with company funds. He contended it was a matter for civil courts, not criminal, but Judge Rudolph Desort found him guilty and pronounced sentence. He was re leased pending his appeal.

Specifically Maltby was charged with writing a check in the name of a friend and diverting it to his own use. The amount was $2000 but the State alleged a $170,000 shortage found when the Rural Grain Co. went into receivership was traceable entirely to Maltby's speculations. Four other counts of embezzl ment were continued to the March term of court, and Federal Gov ernment representatives watched the trial to determine whether Federal prosecution was war-

BILL AIMED AT COMMUNISTS KILLED BY HOUSE COMMITTEE Measure Would Have Made Advo-cacy of Overthrow U. S. Gov-ernment a Federal Crime. By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9. - The House Judiciary Committee today refused to approve the Eslick bill making it a Federal crime to advocate overthrowing the United States Government.

Directed at Communists, the bill at first would have made subject to 10 years' imprisonment or $10,on fine any person affiliated with any group advocating overturning the Federal or state governments. Before the vote, it was amended to apply only to persons speaking or writing in behalf of overthrowing the Federal Government.

The vote on a motion to report the bill to the House was 9 to 9.

A tie vote kills such a motion. The bill was introduced by the late Representative Eslick (Dem.), Tennessee, and was pressed for approval this session by his widow and successor, Mrs. Eslick.

Louis, proved he was not Tincher, as they had supposed, but just before his release gave the information that led to Tincher's arrest.

"Chief," he said, "I know this fellow Tincher. He was at a hotel in St. Louis a few weeks ago. He has a pal in Chicago and it's my guess he'll be calling him soon by long-distance. Right now, I understand, Tincher is in' Memphis."

Capture of Suspect.

Chicago police watched the home of the pal named by the prisoner. On the night of Jan. 2 they wired Chief Thompson that Tincher had called; that he was going to Chicago, and that he would arrive in St. Louis on a motorbus from Memphis at 7 o'clock the morning of Jan. 5.

Thompson made the 350-mile run from Lexington during the night, and next morning called Sergt. Kiug on the telephone. Klug summoned his son, Patrolman Charles Klug, who resides with him, and a few minutes later they met Thompson and two Lexington policemen

TO REACH HOUSE FLOOR

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.-Chairman Mansfield of the House River and Harbors Committee told newspaper men today that in view of advices President Hoover is opposed to new waterway legislation this session, none of the $130,000,-000 in improvements his committee has indorsed will be presented to the House for action. Mansfield said Hoover had advised Republican members of his committee that he was against additional authorization for work and that the House Democratic leadership took the view no rivers and harbors legislation should be passed

"Our last rivers and harbors bill was in 1930," Mansfield said. "This is the first time in over 40 years we have gone more than three years without a bill. We had at first planned an $80,000,000 bill, but

The Texan said Army engineers had presented a list of $76,000,000 of new authorization they though projects will suffer," Mansfield said, "if we do not act this session. But if we don't do something in the special session, work may have to be stopped on the big Upper Mississippi project." On this $124,000,000 project, which extends from the Missouri River to Minneapolis, Congress has authorized $13,500,000.

"We should make available at least $15,000,000 more very soon so that this work can continue." Mansfield

The suggestion I offer herewith is for Congress to impose a 100 per cent profit tax on all business where net profits are above 6 per cent of the actual working capital. The distinctive feature of this tax is to be a scale of exemptions based on the number of persons employed in operation and production. In other words, a cor poration that employs a large percentage of labor would be exempt. A corporation that employs slightly less than an average volume of lawould pay a small tax, whereas a corporation with large profits and small labor costs will be proportionately taxed or must readjust its machinery to include a larger percentage of

The purpose of this tax is to place the initiative on each and every business to provide, wherever possible, a job for labor. No doubt, it will increase the cost of production and slightly affect retail prices, but not beyond that of former periods, when both business and labor were pros

This is contrary to the rulings of the United States Supreme Court in the cases of Mme. Roszika Schwimmer, Hungarian pacifist; Prof. Douglas C. Macintosh, former Canadian army chaplain, and Marie A. Justice Hughes said that in the Macintosh-Bland decision the Supreme Court had placed "allegiance to temporal power above what is sincerely believed to be one's duty to God." Judge E. E. TODAY and TOMORROW

By Walter Lippmann

The Trans-Atlantic Debate

HE debate being carried on across the ocean by Neville Chamberlain on the one hand and by various Senators on the other does no credit to any of the ora-With the world as sick as it is, the least that can be asked of public men is that they hold their tongues until they have something to say that will help their people to surmount their difficulties. The argument has come down to a wrangle over whether war debts are to be rethe United States. The British spokesmen ican spokesmen retort that then they will concede nothing. This all sounds very hardboiled, but on closer examination it soor appears that the argument is essentially un-real because the debaters on both sides are easoning from fictitious premises.

Let us begin by looking at the glass house in which we live. Those who assume that the war debts can be traded off for definite debts still have a large tangible value. They see the European countries obligated to pay us some 22 billions in principal and interest during the remainder of the twentieth cen tury, and they say to themselves that for 22 ns we ought to be able to buy some handsome favors. But this is certainly an

These obligations, as Senator Reed of Pennsylvania pointed out the other day. have no sanction behind them and are supported by no collateral; they rest on nothing but the debtors' view, not our view, let us remember, of the debetors' obligation to pay. So the British debt is worth as much as and no more than the British people feel it ought to be worth.

Now the British view of what that debt is worth has undergone a radical change since the contract was made some 10 years ago. There is every reason to think it has undergone a decisive change in the past two months. Up to Dec. 15, that part of the British people which held the contract to be firmly binding determined British pol-It no longer seems to do so. When the American Government refused to post pone the December payment, there occurred something like a revolution in British opin-ion. The sense that this debt was binding snapped. The sense of moral obligation was destroyed by moral indignation at the unprecedented humiliation imposed by our re-fusal to postpone.

Our Government, by choosing to play the part of a harsh creditor, lost its moral hold upon the conscience of the debtor. When Great Britain shipped the $95,000,000 of gold, her people sloughed off their feeling for the sanctity of that particular debt. Since that time, it has no longer been a question of what the United States would concede but of what Britain would still consent to pay. It will not be much.

The unwisdom of the December policy has robbed default of its terrors. The whole world held us to be wrong in insisting upon the payment on that date, and default has terrors only if the world considers it odious Therefore, we may as well look the facts n the face and know that our claims have just about the same force today as had the reparation claims on Germany on the eve of the Lausanne conference. The British illusion, the counterpart of the American, is that the fluctuating pound sterling is somehow a British asset and that the American desire to see it stabilized is a demand that Britain make a sacrifice to American interest. The manner in which British spokesmen dismiss American attempts to discuss this question are not only profoundly irritating but wholly miseived. They appear to assume that a country like the United States will be docile under the impact of currency manipulation. They appear to assume that sterling can be stabilized without the co-operation of the United States. I say they appear to asthe brutal disregard of American sensibilities which characterizes Mr. Chamberlain's

Yet one has only to glance at Mr. Chamberlain's four conditions necessary to the stabilization of sterling to see how fatally mistaken would be a British policy of high handed disregard of American feeling during the coming negotiations in Washington. The conditions are: (1) a war debt settlement; (2) removal of artificial trade bar-riers; (3) redistribution of the world's gold stock; (4) settlement or amelioration of the outstanding political questions. Can these four conditions conceivably be met without the active co-operation of the United States! Obviously not. Surely it is clear that the two nations have a common interest, and that what the situation calls for is not trading, but teamwork.

NOTE ON STATECRAFT.

From the Baltimore Evening Sun.

A ARCH 4 the State Department will go M through its quadrennial ceremony of clearing the diplomatic service of its best men. For a number of years past, the State Department has been urging diplomacy as a professional career. The so-called career men enter the diplomatic service at the bottom and, by means of ability alone, the best finally they are appointed Ministers and sometimes even Ambassadors. But when finally, as a reward for their accomplishments, they are appointed Minis-ters or Ambassadors, their status changes. For the ministerial and ambassadorial posts are by custom an important part of the presidential patronage. Therefore, when the presidential patronage. Therefore, when the administration changes, they have to get out in order to make way for the friends of the new President. The list of the doomed includes 20 Ministers and five Ambassadors Some of them have been in the service for as long as 30 years.

with every new President the cream of the career service is skimmed off and thrown away, and only those who haven't been good nough to get to olding their jobs.

PART THREE.

Posses Senator Casey's Bill Authorizing Checkups on Departments at His Discretion.

TIME, STAFF LACKING IN PRESENT SYSTEM

Report Says State Is Buying Too Many and Too Expensive Automobiles for Official Business.

By the Jefferson City Correspond ent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 9. The House today passed the Senat bill of Senator Casey, Kansas City, to give the Governor power to cause audits to be made of any State department or of any of the political subdivisions of the State and to compel the production of books and records necessary in such audit, and authorizes a spe-cial appropriation to pay costs. The amount of the appropriation has not been fixed. The House amended the bill t include an emergency clause, which would make it operative as soon as the bill is signed by the Governor The bill must be returned to the Senate for concurrence in the amendment, then goes to the Governor. It is the first bill to be passed by both houses.

Action by the House on the Casey bill followed a report by the Legis-lature's Auditing Committee recommending such legislation.

The committee recommended that this power be vested in the Governor on the ground that present laws governing the auditing of State agencies were inadequate due to growth of the State's business and expansion of departments. Repeal of the law providing for appointment of the Legislative Auditing Committee, after each general election and in advance of the ensuing blennial session of the Legislature, was recommended on the ground that State activities had exanded to a point where the com mittee could make only a perfunc tory audit with the facilities pro vided and within the time avail

Members of the committee, apv. Caulfield, are State Senator B. Gordon (Dem.) of Liberty eaker Meredith (Dem.) of Pop ar Bluff, and Representative Preasley (Rep.) of Dallas County. Existing laws require periodical audits of the State departments boards, bureaus, commissions and nstitutions by a small staff of accountants appointed by the State Auditor, and submission of their audit reports to the Governor. Due to the limited size of the staff, it has not been possible to make thorough audits of each of the State agencies at least once in each biennial period. Too Many State Automobiles. Without reporting specific expenditures, the committee suggested that too many automobiles were being purchased and operated by State Departments, and declared ex pensive cars were being purchased when cheaper ones would serve departmental purposes. The commit tee recommended a maximum pur chase price of $1000 for State auto mobiles, except the car used by the Governor, and that all such car should carry signs showing they are

State-owned, to restrict their use for private purposes. Traveling expense accounts o State employes were declared to be excessive, without citing of specific instances. The present system of requiring State employes to obtain receipts for all traveling expenditures in excess of $1 was declared a "farce." The committee recommended legislation to place more effective restrictions on travel ex-

The committee reported $530,223 of State funds was in eight closed anks which are in the course o liquidation. The State holds col-lateral for all of these funds it was ald except $75,256 in three banks. which liquidation of collateral State funds failed to pay the amount of the State deposits.

Other Recommendations.

Among its recommendations, the committee suggested abolition of the State radio broadcasting sta-

The announcement came from the University of Chicago soon after the alumni meeting.

Shaughnessy is expected to report here soon, in order to organize his plans for spring football practice.

At the University of Minnesota Shaughnessy played end, tackle and fullback at various times on the football teams of 1911, 1912 and 1913.

He will replace Coach Stagg, who was retired after coaching University of Chicago teams for 41 years. Stagg has accepted a post at the College of the Pacific in California.

My dear Mrs. Carr:

CANNOT refrain from writing about the letter from the pitiful little 9-year-old member of the lone wolf species, to which I belong myself. While I am 35, I nave not learned either why everyordy hates me wherever I go, and his redemption lies in the fact that he recognizes the condition so early and has started out to do some-thing about it, so that there's much more hope for him being ov-able and therefore loved every-where long before he reaches my age. Sp. K J x x Dl. x x Cl. x x x should be bid in this manner.

The great promise of a K J x x holding is that the partner is almost certain to hold A x x, so that you should have a finesse to make three or even four tricks in the suit. With two such combinations in the hand, the Dummy may well contribute eight tricks in play, and should yield six, anyway.

If in one of these suits both the queen and the ten are held by the enemy, the opening no-trump bid-der is likely to hold A x x x or A Q x or A 10 9 in the other. He can make his early play in the better suit or suits and prepare for an end play in the other.

Find the Right Fit Before You Press the Bidding.

My extreme reluctance to make other than minimum responses of rebids until a definite fit is discovered or, if you prefer, my unwilling ness to be enthusiastic about thir-teen cards without reference to the other thirteen, is often assailed as overcautiousness. Nevertheless Si Derrick Wernher and Mrs. H. L. Peterson (holder with Mrs. Jav S Jones Jr., of the women's pair national championships both at auc tion and at contract) obtained sweet top score in a recent Atlanti City tournament by their fine bidding of the following hand:
Mrs. Peterson, holding

Sp. x x Di. A K x x x x x Hts. — Cl. A K x x bid one diamond. Wernher held

Sp. A K 10 Di. x Hts. K J x x Cl.10 9 8 x x but, whereas, the others all re-sponded with two no trumps and ended up in three no trumps, my old teammate mistrusted his lack of diamond support and bid two clubs. He felt sure that Mrs. Peterson would rebid in some way, as is strictly a Sims player and had opened the bidding as dealer She bid five clubs. Knowing this raise to mean four clubs to A K or A Q with ample confirmation of the primary strength behind the opening bid, Wernher bid six clubs. "Double" from the player on his right, holding A Q x of hearts, Q J x x in spades, Q J x x in diamonds and two clubs. Redouble from Mrs. Peterson. Declarer had no difficulty in drawing trumpe and running out the diamonds making a grand slam which, how ever, it would have been an ex-tremely unwise gamble to have bid. Claudette says "every member of the brunette brigade is well acquainted with the tiresome but accepted rules that are supposed to guide the dusky lady's choice of clothes. Is your hair just one shade darker than a coppery tint and your eyes frankly brown? Then you are supposed to wear violent red upon almost every occasion."

And white! For evening the brunette is blessed with this most distinctive of all hues. White, says Claudette, is the brunette's castle and fort and no blonde can look better in a daring, sophisticated white satin gown than you! Wear it for sports as well as in the ball-room. Wear it often.

Other flattering colors for the brunette are brown, beige, pale blue, sapphire blue, yellow and pink of the new, dusty, faded tone. Sallowing colors are to be avoided, particularly those deep jade hues color yourself only as an accent to a sports costume or as an evening gown once in a very great while." She discourages red simply be-cause it is so obvious. Just as a pale pink, fluffy evening gown is the last thing in the world a frag-

This season the brunette has unlimited opportunities with the many hues of gray that are so modish. Cold slate grays and the warm dark bluish grays are usually ming. And if you want to be ultra-gray-clever, use all gray accessories in place of the usual black and brown variety. This is going to be a gray spring.

Shortness of Breath

HOSE who suffer from asthma, bronchitis and emphysema most bitterly complain of what they describe as shortness of breath. These complaints are based upor the patient's subjective experiences, and science has been at a loss to explain the origin of these sympbreath have been determined. These normal findings have been compared with the findings of those suffering shortness of breath and the outstanding difference has been found to be the time that it takes the sufferer with bronchitis asthma and emphysems to exhale.

In a further study of this problem, normal, healthy individuals were made to wear a broad band around the chest, fixed at the point of extreme expiration These normal individuals then were required to do heavy work, and it was found that they broke down and complained of shortnes

This breakdown was not due to lack of oxygen. The sensation of shortness of breath was found to be due to the longer time required to exhale, which was found to interfere with the return of venous blood to the right side of the heart.

Now it is to be a talkie, with Ann Harding starring.

Jane Murfin, who co-authored "Smilin' Through" and has been turning out some of the better scrips on the Radio lot, has been given the job of "modernizing" a situation that was acceptable as recently as 14 years ago.

"TODAY," she says, "it would be ridiculous for us to offer our heroine as 'Declassee' simply because she was divorced. The modern audience would snick-er at the idea. So we've had to farther, and suggest more of a past that might really make her ing audience sympathy for her."

Thus our blonde Ann, who hitherto has been associated with roles of white respectability—even in "The Animal Kingdom," where she was mistress, she was wife according to the idea of the author, and in "Westward Passage," as I recall thus Ann assumes a character foreign to her type. She will be seen in brief one and give her husband England's only grounds for divorce,

HANGING times and manners, Miss Murfin comments, have removed from the realm of au-thors' expedients the "Sudden Storm" that forces hero and heroine to spend the night together and thus be "compromised" in the eyes of the world. And what a situaion that used to be. "It served well in other times," she observes, "but today people are more honest and courageous, and no man or woman feels obliged to marry the girl or man in such circumstances. Common sense and nesty make the notion absurd." I have never seen a subject like this in an editorial, but I think somebody ought to write about it. It's about the way so many wives regard housework.

When a man marries he expects to work for the new home, and unless he is a regular tramp he never complains about the extra hard-ships and sacrifices he must face. All that, he takes for granted as

But a young wife acts as if everything she did were a personal favor, for which her husband should be everlastingly grateful. If he isn't, she flies into a tantrum. It never seems to occur to her that it is as much up to her to pay her own way after marriage as it was before, or that housekeeping is as much of a job as her office position was.

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

JUDITH AVERY had dreaded telling DR. CRAIG MITCHELL about her decision to marry TOBY LOCKE. It hadn't been an easy decision to make—Judith liked Craig so well and loved Toby so much. She hadn't been able to face Craig that evening after she had seen Toby and learned he was going to get a divorce. So she had ran away like a coward and had walked for miles, pondering over her problem. When she reached home she found that Craig had left a package for her and had called several times to see whether she was there. The package contained an old-fashioned bracelet that Craig had given her shortly after she consented to enter into a "trial engagement" with him. Judith had lost it, but Craig's advertisement in the newspapers had brought it back. Whenever he saw the bracelet on her arm, it meant that she was trying to love him.

OROSCOPE THAT LEFT SLIPS ANOTHER » by WYNN « HE HAS GAINS WORRIED For Friday, February 19.

A versatic and unreliable day, especially for those who are easily pushed off balance. Best to avoid important decisions in the morning. Early afternoon looks better. Then hold back on displays better. Then hold back on displays of feeling in later hours.

Morality.

Selfishness is always caused by lack of vision, lack of a wider horizon mentally. It is not caused by poorly placed planets in the horoscope of this or that person anywhere near so much as by poor teaching of the correct principles of life. In my travels over the U.S. A., I have sought for a school somewhere, from the first grade of grammar school up to post graduate college courses, that teaches morality, how to use it and why it should be used. But I have failed. Probably there is no such school. Probably there is no such school. But I have found many that actually refuse to discuss the subject in any kind of analytical way. And an education that does not develop knowledge of the principles of right and wrong, including the place of selfishness, is at least in-

Your Year Ahead.
Natives of this date have before them 12 months of necessity for keeping their assets intact and fully marshaled for defense. Watch the health. Worry is as bad as being hit by a truck. The year can be made to yield dividends through personal application of ability, especially from Nov. 21, 1933, to Jan. 15, 1934. Danger: Sept. 21 to 27; and Jan. 12 to 24, 1934.

Look out for negative and low emotions; your own and those of others.

Etiquette of *Calling.

Ungraceful Posture in the Parlor.

Self-possessed Gentility in the Parlor.

Today's pictorial sermons from Hill's manual of 1878 show improper and proper stance when out for an afternoon call. "If possible," says the manual, "avoid calling at the lunch or dinner hour. Say bright and witty things. Avoid politics and religion. Say nothing that will lead to discussion. A lady engaged upon fancy sewing, or needlework, need not lay aside same. A gentleman must hold hat and gloves in hand unless invited to lay them aside. A gentleman may deposit cane and overshoes in the hall."

U. S. Commerce Department statistics show that the marriage rate has been falling steadily since 1929. Anyway, our leaders are willing to try anything once so long as it's been tried before without making any difference.
